Township supervisor target of recall petition — again

By Dennis Mansfield
Managing Editor

If not successful the first time, try, try again.

Dean Welsh, a former Crawford County commissioner and resident of Frederic Township, has again filed a recall petition to remove Township Supervisor Brian Hulbert from office. Hulbert has two years remaining on his term of office. A Republican, Hulbert defeated Democratic incumbent Harold Mertes by just 14 votes (306 to 292) in the 1992 general election.

The three-member Crawford County Board of Election Commissioners will meet June 20 at 7 p.m. in the County Building for a "clarity" hearing to determine if the language in the petition is sufficiently understandable.

This is not the first time Hulbert has been the target of Welsh's paperwork. The election commission voted 3-to-0 on April 11, that a previously filed recall petition, by Welsh against Hulbert, did not meet the clarity standard.

Both Welsh and Hulbert were absent from the meeting.

County records of the meeting state, "the reasons are not of sufficient clarity to enable the officer whose recall is being sought and the electors to identify the course of conduct which is the basis for the recall."

In his newest attempt to remove Hulbert from office, Welsh charges in the petition that Hulbert "casts votes on numerous occasions against the will and wishes of the townships of the residents of the township."

The Elections Commission consist of County Clerk Beth Wieland, County Treasurer Joseph Wakeley and Probate Judge John Hunter.

Hulbert was one of four recall petitions filed in March and April. County commissioners Robert McLachlan, Loren Goodale and Larry Mattis were named in recall petitions.

The petitions against Mattis and Goodale were sponsored by former Commissioner Joseph Callewaert and Richard W. Johnson, respectively. The petition against McLachlan was sponsored by Garland "Bud" Joyce. All the members of the Crawford County Board of Commissioners have filed for their re-election bids to the six-member board.

According to Wieland, none of the petitions have been returned with signatures. The petitions must be returned to the clerk's office before June 30. Under state election laws, petitions to recall commissioners cannot be filed within the last six months of the commissioner's term of office or the first six months of office.

"If they were serious, they should have done it right away," Wieland said. "It's only six weeks until the August primaries."

"They could be nominated for next year and recalled for this year," she added.

Those named in the recall petitions have 30 days to challenge signatures listed on any petition, with an election having to be scheduled within 60 days of the signed petitions being filed.

"It could be two or three months," Wieland said of any possible date for a special election.

Pettyjohn dominates voting in annual school election, Banda holds onto seat

By Terry Wright
Staff Writer

Crawford AuSable School District (CASD) Board of Education candidate Irene Pettyjohn won a decisive victory in all three precincts in the annual school election held Monday, June 13. Pettyjohn unseated incumbent board treasurer Carol Ramaswamy, and will join successful incumbent Brian Banda with the start of the new school year on July 1. Pettyjohn and Banda now hold board seats until the 1998 election.

Pettyjohn won a total of 599 votes out of 1463 cast at the three voting precincts. Banda received 480 votes and Ramaswamy 384 votes.

"I'm just flying," Pettyjohn said. "I'm extremely happy, but I also feel a tremendous responsibility. I talked to a lot of people who, I think, share my views. Now they've given me a vote of confidence to improve our schools."

All three precincts favored Pettyjohn. In Precinct One (Grayling) Pettyjohn received 494 votes compared to 409 for Banda and 336 for Ramaswamy. Precinct Two (Frederic) voted, 69 for Pettyjohn, 46 for Banda, and 25 for Ramaswamy. Precinct Three (Lovells) followed suit, giving Pettyjohn 36 votes to 25 for Banda, and 23 for Ramaswamy.

"With all the new and innovative ideas in education," Pettyjohn added, "I won on a back to basics platform."

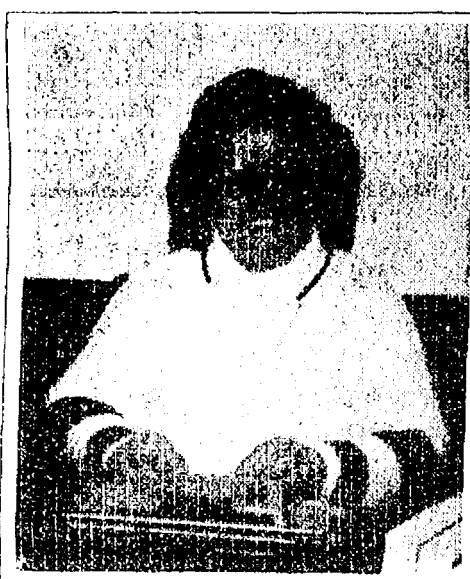

"I look forward to working with Irene," said CASD Superintendent Kent Reynolds. "She has a strong commitment to kids."

"In leaving the board," Reynolds said, "I would like to commend Carol Ramaswamy. She leaves a very strong mark on the district."

I was pleased we didn't have a millage election," Reynolds added. "It is still very confusing for those districts that did."

In the race for the board of trustees for Kirtland Community College, incumbents Robert Bovee and Roy Spangler were unchallenged in their bids for re-election to six-year terms. Bovee received 585 votes and Spangler 527.

Running for election to the C.O.O.R. Intermediate School District Board of Education, incumbent William Wood won re-election, and

Irene Pettyjohn

May Lance, running unopposed, won election to six-year terms. Lance received 531 votes and Wood 452 votes.

Camp Grayling honored by county

Camp Grayling, the 147,000-plus acre National Guard Training Facility, was recently honored in a resolution passed by the Crawford County Board of Commissioners.

The resolution was unanimously passed at the May 18th meeting of the county board.

In the resolution, the board states the importance of the camp to the local economy, estimated at $20 million per year, and cooperation in many community projects, such as the construction of the Grayling Little League Baseball Field.

CESW ready to tackle contamination with air stripper

By Terry Wright
Staff Writer

Remediation of groundwater contamination at the City Environmental Services Inc. of Waters (CESW) landfill is scheduled to begin before the end of 1994.

Working under the direction of the Michigan Department of Natural Resources Waste Management Division (DNR), remediation of above acceptable standards of three volatile organic compounds will be completed through the use of a Hazelton Model 100 Maxi Strip air stripping system.

"We're hoping to be up and running by the first of October," said CESW Manager Gary Crosby. "We're finalizing our engineering plan right now. Construction could start in the next couple of weeks."

The Maxi Strip system will be used to remove benzene, vinyl chloride and 4-methylphenol that have been detected in above acceptable amounts in groundwater tests. The DNR has established cancer causing risks based on cleanup levels for these chemicals.

Iron will also be removed, although not by DNR mandate, but because of aesthetic purposes, including taste and staining ability of iron rich water.

Each of the two Maxi Strip system modules scheduled for implementation by CESW consists of a stripping unit mounted on top of a collection tank unit.

Contaminated groundwater will be pumped through three purge wells to a recirculation pump, forcing the water through the stripping unit where it comes into turbulent contact with aspirated air pulled into the system by a vacuum created in the stripper unit. The microturbulence converts the organics to gas form, and they are discharged through vent pipes into the atmosphere. The venting stack will be located 12-feet above ground level.

"The emission rate for these particular volatile organic compounds is .0072 pounds per hour," said Rich Alexander of the DNR Air Quality Division. "That's .032 tons per year, which is a very low quantity. Individually, these VOCs meet acceptable levels."

Alexander said the air quality permit that accompanies the CESW cleanup program has been issued.

The treated water will then be pumped to infiltration ponds located 900 feet upgrade from the treatment site. The infiltration ponds will allow the treated water to seep back into the ground directly over the contamination area.

"4-methylphenol is the most difficult of the three to cleanup," said DNR Environmental Engineer John Ozoga. "But, any constituents that are left will go back through the loop which will keep the contamination from spreading."

Ozoga said eventually acceptable levels of all three organics will be reached.

"It took years to become contaminated," Ozoga said. "It could take years to clean up."

Contaminants not able to be air stripped, such as iron, will precipitate in the infiltration ponds. The iron precipitation will then be removed from the pond and disposed of in a lined cell.

The entire system will treat up to 22,000 gallons of water per day, on a 24-hour-per-day operating schedule, and is designed to be unmanned. Daily inspections, monitoring and reporting, are required in accordance with air permit and groundwater recharge requirements.

The two Hazelton Maxi-Strip units, including strippers, tanks and wet well and pump, will be housed in a secured building accessible only to trained operators and maintenance personnel.

The Hazelton Maxi-Strip system is currently being used by an affiliate of CESW at the Hastings Sanitary Landfill to remove similar compounds.

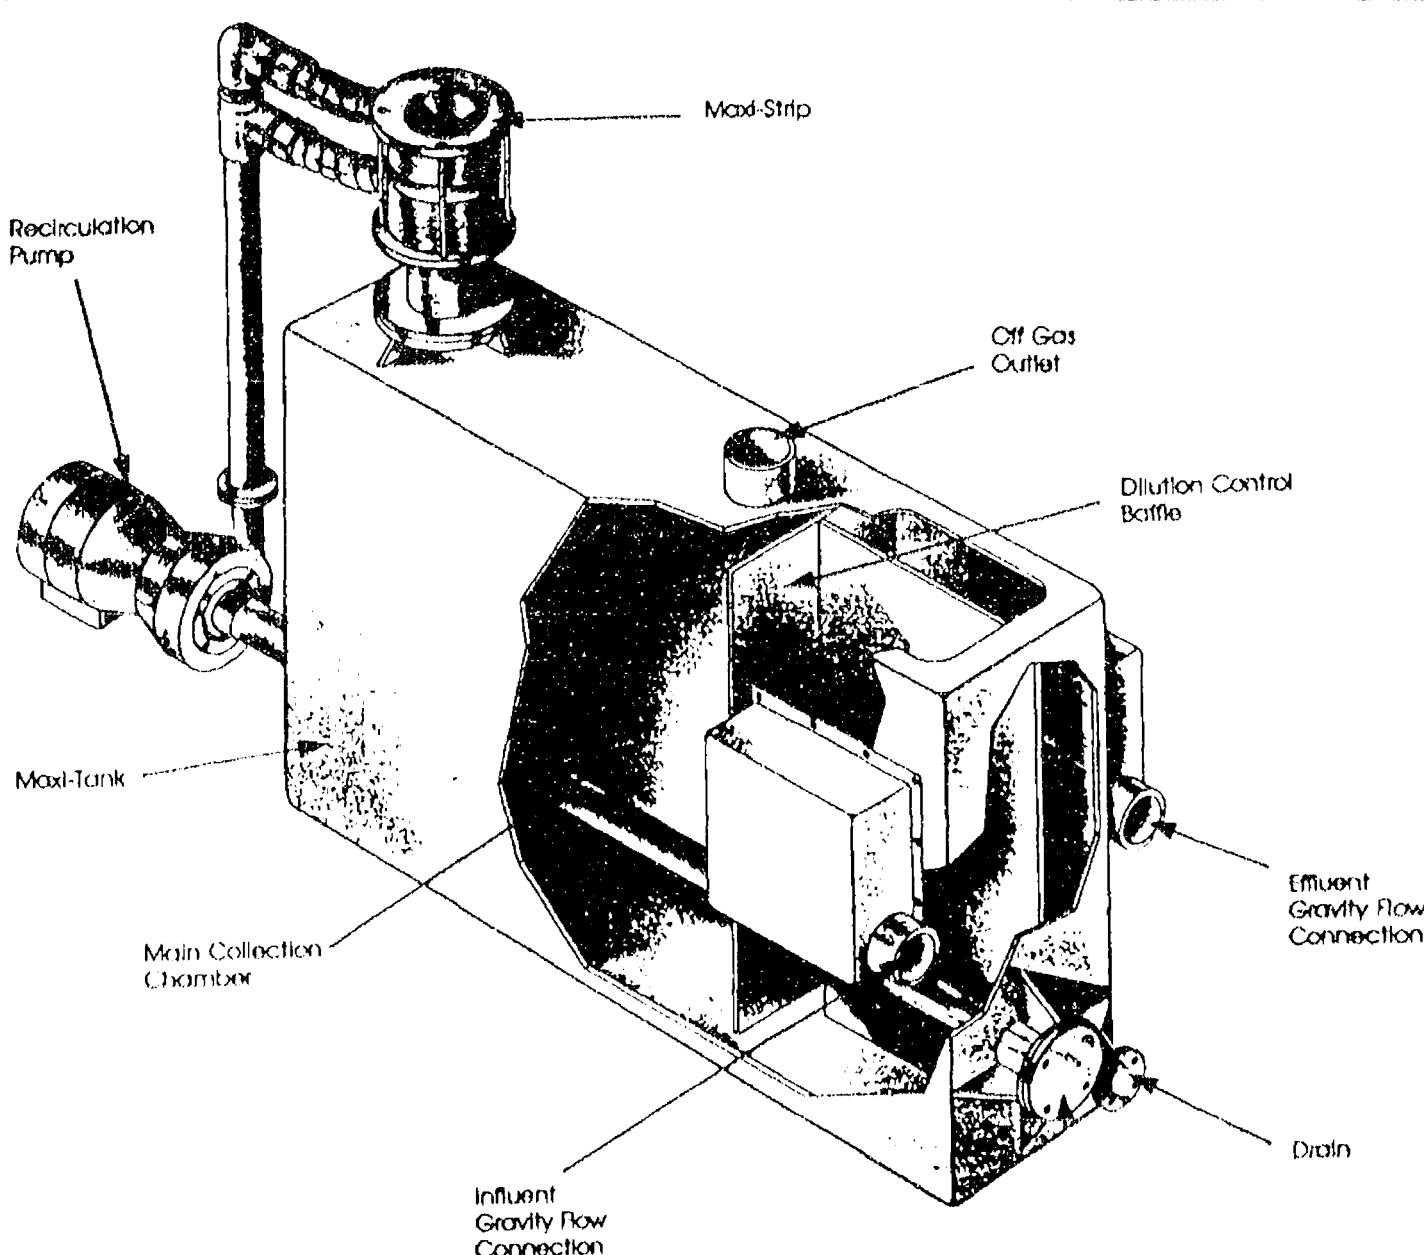

"It's doing a good job for us in Hastings," Crosby said.

'Marathon' already a winner for 1994

By Dennis Mansfield
Managing Editor

Even before a single canoe takes to the water for the 47th Annual Weyerhaeuser AuSable River Canoe Marathon, the race has been declared a winner.

The Marathon Committee, a organization consisting of all volunteers, was recently presented with the Governor's Tourism Award. Marge Martella, president of the 1994 Marathon Committee in Grayling, accepted the award on behalf of the committee during ceremonies in East Lansing along with Jimmie Luthman, vice-chair of the Oscoda committee.

"Growing up in Grayling, I've seen it grow from a local event, where now people come from around the country to watch," said Rep. Allen Lowe, R-Grayling. "It's an international event now. It's draws thousands of people to Grayling. It really is something that promotes tourism in Michigan."

Lowe was instrumental in nominating the committee for the award.

"The unusual thing about (the marathon) is that everyone knows about it," Lowe said. "With other events, some people know and others don't."

"This award recognizes the major contributions the marathon has made to help make Michigan one of the most popular vacation state in America," stated Thomas Altemus, director of the Michigan Travel Bureau in the letter notifying the committee of the award.

"They picked a summer and winter event," Martella said of the award.

"I think it's a reflection of the effort we are putting forth. Our goal is to promote Northern Michigan and the AuSable River Valley, including Grayling, Mio and Oscoda," she said. Martella said she was surprised to find out about the award.

"Absolutely," she said. "We don't think of it as a small event, but Grayling and Oscoda are small towns. When National Guard unit extends helping hand to Beaver Creek Twp.

At the request of the Bear Lake Township Board of Trustees, members of the 1438th Engineering Detachment, based out of Camp Grayling, assisted at the township with a major upgrade of the grounds.

The unit, which specializes in facility maintenance and construction, spent two weekends in April expanding the township hall parking lot, driveways and installing a new sidewalk.

After excavating additional parking lot area, and leveling and grading the surface, National Guard equipment operators spread 270 tons of gravel and 210 tons of crushed limestone. Members of the 1438th also prepared the new sidewalk and poured and leveled 137 feet of new concrete for the walkway.

"This project was just right for our unit," said Chief Warrant Officer III, Michael Thorne, who supervised the project. "It's exactly the kind of work we do, so our operators and tradesmen all worked in their job specialty and sharpened their skills."

"The job just fit the two weekends that we had approved to do the job. The township members were great and really appreciated the work being done," he added.

The township furnished all construction materials and fuel for the construction equipment. Meals were also furnished for the work crews.

According to Camp Grayling officials, the 1438th helped Bear Lake Township save an estimated $9,000. Cost estimates indicated that a competitive bid would have been more than $12,500, with the total cost, including labor and equipment provided by the National Guard unit, being approximately $3,000.

Bands ready to march in annual AuSable River Festival, July 30

"Nursery Rhymes and Fairy Tales" will be the theme of the 1994 AuSable River Festival Parade on July 30, according to Tina Hamilton and Julie Sajdak, parade committee co-chairs.

In keeping with the theme, local library story teller, June "Story Lady" Ginther, will be honored as the grand marshal. Ginther was selected, as she has been entertaining area youths for many years and will be a familiar face to the children along the parade route.

Other familiar names and faces will also be seen in the annual parade. Parade organizers recently announced some of the returning bands, as well as new additions to the festival parade.

The Glen Erin Band from Okemos, who bill themselves as the "Pied Pipers of Mid-Michigan" will be returning, along with the Plymouth Fife and Drum Corp.

"We can expect a return of the Traverse City Highlanders, and back for another year is the Newman Navy League Cadet Corp. that was so popular two years ago," Hamilton said.

The community's very own Grayling High School Marching Band will also be featured in the parade, along with the Boyne City High School Band.

"Plans for the children's portion of the parade are progressing," said Hamilton, "and we hope with this year's theme that many of the children will want to dress up as their favorite nursery rhyme or fairy tale character."

Parade organizers are now seeking local businesses or organizations to sponsor bands. For more information, persons may call any Grayling Promotional Association member, or Hamilton at 348-6544.

"I LOVE A PARADE"--The Grand Traverse Highland Band will be one of the many musical groups to perform during the AuSable River Festival Parade on Saturday, July 30 in Grayling.

CCC camp members reunite at Higgins Lake

An estimated 325 alumni of the Civilian Conservation Corps (CCC) gathered at the North Higgins Lake State Park over the weekend of June 2-4 for their 12th reunion.

The annual reunion reunites the men and women, now in their 70s and 80s, who spent time in federal and state youth work camps all across the United States during the Great Depression era of the 1930s.

More than 103,000 Michigan youths entered CCC camps in a time when there were no jobs, rather than accept public assistance, to earn a few dollars by planting trees, fighting forest fires, building roads and bridges, and revitalizing a young state park system.

Today, the CCC alumni, in cooperation with the Michigan

Department of Natural Resources and the Michigan Bureau of History, have established a permanent home at North Higgins Lake with a museum commemorating their earlier work, and dedicated to those who served but are no longer here.

The CCC alumni have remained active in Michigan affairs. Their recent lobbying efforts to revitalize the CCC program in Michigan, culminating when Gov. John Engler signed into law a $20 million CCC program for today's youth.

Now, a goal of the alumni is to erect a statue of a 1930s era "CCC lad" at the Higgins Lake park to compliment the museum. The lifesize bronze statue carries a price tag of $35,000, of which the alumni have already raised more than half (see related picture).

During reunion ceremonies on Saturday, June 4, Rep. Allen Lowe, R-Grayling, presented a Michigan House of Representatives resolution to the group.

"WHEREAS, Of all government programs that have been originated, few have matched the wonderful success of the Civilian Conservation Corps," Lowe read. "Born of the Great Depression, when both human and natural resources were languishing, the CCC not only rebuilt great forests and increased accessibility to the outdoors, it reconstructed lives;....."

".....RESOLVED BY THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES, That we commemorate the contributions to our state and nation made by the Civilian Conservation Corps;....."

The resolution was adopted by the House of Representatives on May 5.

C.C.C. ALUMNI ACCEPT DONATION FOR STATUE--The Weyerhaeuser Foundation recently donated $2,500 to the C.C.C. Alumni to help defray the cost of the lifesize statue, at North Higgins Lake State Park, of a 1930s era "CCC lad." On hand to present the donation was Weyerhaeuser Grayling Director of Human Resources Don Schanz (2nd from left) and receiving the donation on behalf of the CCC Alumni were Andy Donaldson, Treasurer of Grayling Chapter of CCC Alumni #129, Joe Masko (2nd from right) President of the Grayling chapter and Rev. William Fraser, 1st Vice-President and Chaplain of the National Association of CCC Alumni.

Weyerhaeuser Co. names Dennett as new general manager of Grayling mill

The new general manager of Weyerhaeuser Structurwood Mill in Grayling was recently named, according to company officials.

Phil Dennett, who joined Weyerhaeuser at Grayling in 1982 and held operations and team leader positions, replaces Rodger Anger, who was recently promoted to vice president of the New Bern, NC, pulp facility.

"We are fortunate to have a manager with Phil's experience to assume the key leadership role at Grayling. This organization is known for strong overall performance, including innovative approaches to total quality, top quality safety performance, strong customer orientation, and is recognized for leadership in high performance work systems. Phil is the kind of leader who will continue to improve the outstanding performance the members of the Grayling team have achieved the past 12 years," said Howard Meek, vice president of the Eastern Division of Engineered Strand Products.

Dennett is currently the project manager for the scoping and construction of a new oriented strand board (OSB) mill to be located in the Grande Prairie, Alberta, area. Prior to this position he had been the general manager for the Edson, Alberta, OSB mill since 1989. The Edson mill is recognized as an OSB industry leader.

"Phil will be rejoining an organization of experienced, technically competent men and women who have made a major contribution to Weyerhaeuser through their dedication and commitment to excellence," Meek added.

Friends to hold June meeting at Hartwick Pines State Park

The Friends of the Hartwick Pines State Park will hold its regular monthly meeting for June at 7 p.m. on Thursday, June 16 at the Michigan Forest Visitor's Center.

The guest speaker will be retired assistant park manager and park naturalist John Rothelle. Since his retirement John has remained active in governmental affairs having to do with the Michigan state park system.

He was also a close personal friend to Genevieve Gillette, a life-long promoter of state parks, who was partially responsible for the donation by Mrs. Karen Hartwick of the current Hartwick Pines property.

Rothelle's unique knowledge, history and perspective of Hartwick Pines should prove to be very interesting and informative.

ISSUES AND OPINIONS

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

More trustees would not change township status

To the editor:
In response to the article about four township trustees, I would like to make one thing very clear. Two more trustees would only change the representation the people have on the township board. Two more trustees have nothing to do with Grayling Township, a general law township, changing to a charter township. The charter township idea is a side issue meant to confuse and scare the voter. Please come to the annual meeting and find out for yourself.

One other note, Grayling Township did not pass the landfill amendment, there never was a motion to pass it.

Sincerely,
John Medler

Write your legislators, stop the amendment to P.A. 641

To the editor:
The movement now going on in the Legislature will have the most devastating effect the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) agents and waste "management" companies could ever conceive, on the future of our environment and our citizens, if this amendment now in Subcommittee passes.

Waste "management" companies and the government (EPA agents) are working hand-in-hand trying to force citizens to accept massive amounts of waste, regional "dumps," (Mt. Trashmore, North), but are finding that there are fewer and fewer citizens willing to accept these poisons and only a fool would willingly consent to a waste expansion project in his or her backyard with the limited technology we have today.

Our government "agents" are now trying to convince citizens that "dumps" are "safe," which means "risks" are acceptable. "Risk Assessment" is the term that our government now uses to convince people that some number of citizens must be killed each year to maintain a national lifestyle based on necessities like Saran Wrap, throw-away cameras and lawns without dandelions.

Even as you are reading this article, waste "management" industries are strongly lobbying (buying) state legislators to approve an amendment to the Michigan Solid Waste Management Act (Act 641 of 1978). This amendment, simply stated, if passed, would take all local control of solid waste away from counties. It would allow waste haulers to "open the borders" (NAFTA?) and bring any amount of "garbage" (hazardous waste?) from anywhere it would be profitable to haul from — Detroit, Ohio, Canada, etc....

The Crawford County Board of Commissioners voted to allow City Environmental Services, of Waters (City Management) to add, up to a total of 26 counties, to our Solid Waste Management Plan. The townships wisely voted it down. If this amendment passes, these same townships that voted it down would no longer have any say in the amount of waste haulers allowed to haul their trash to our "dump."

The only way to stop this insane action by our EPA and the waste "management" industry is to call and/or write your state representative and urge him or her to STRONGLY OPPOSE this so-called "Open Borders" amendment to Act 641.

Address these letters: Hon: State Representative, State Capitol Building, P. O. Box 30014, Lansing, MI 48909.

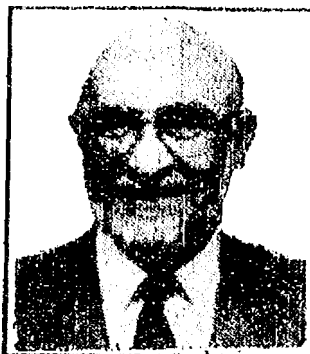

It's very important that a copy of your letter goes to the House Subcommittee considering the issue. Subcommittee members include: Rep. Mary Brown, co-chair, and Rep. Susan Grimes Munsell, co-chair, to name a couple.

There is a paper being circulated around Crawford County that states, MUNICIPAL FAX ALERT. If you come in contact with it... read it very carefully.

Also, send another copy of your letter to: Donald J. Stypula, to his ATTENTION, at the League's State and Federal Affairs Division, 416 W. Ottawa St., Lansing, MI 48933.

Waste industries are winning and dining voters in the Michigan House, our views, each and every one of ours, MUST BE HEARD. This will be one of the most important letters you will ever have to write to help save our counties from becoming "poisoned" further.

ALMANACK By Richard Milliman

I get tears in my ears

AN OLDIE BUT goodie western tune laments that "I get tears in my ears when I lie on my back in my bed and I think about you."

Things other than unrequited love can cause tears in the ears, too.

For example, as a writer of sorts, I get tears in my ears when I read unnecessary and inappropriate use of the inexact term "stuff" in newspaper accounts.

Here are a few recent examples:
From an Associated Press story: "Lots of the country's papers, photo and other old and significant stuff will be moved from the massive National Archives building to a new research center in suburban Maryland."

From The Tampa Tribune: "Lifetime [TV network] announced a bunch of stuff Tuesday that will premiere this spring..."

From The Detroit Free Press: "According to a survey released Wednesday, three out of five young people ages 12-17 volunteer to do good stuff."

Enough already. My ears are filling with tears.

Why can't writers be a bit more careful in use of words?

Admittedly some of the "stuff" on television is precisely that, but should archivally significant material or voluntary good deeds be only "stuff?"

Picky, picky, picky.

IT'S NOT THAT colorful and interesting word usage is impossible. Oldtime baseball great Bob Feller, describing his appraisal of Michael Jordan's switch to baseball, said: "He couldn't hit a curveball with an ironing board."

Syndicated columnist Mary McGrory, commenting a few weeks back on the then-current status of President Clinton with the voters, wrote: "It's pretty clear that the gods don't want President Bill Clinton to inhale success;" and again: "People understand that Clinton is an uneven performer, rather like a teenager who is a National Merit Scholar but who wrecks the car from time to time."

FROM OUR CORNER By Whitey Madsen

were all about the same, except instead of putting on weight like someone I know, they are grey in most of their hair, at least the ones that had hair that is.

Talked to Bill and Jane McCourt, they came all the way from North Carolina, but Bill said there are quite a few golf courses on the way and they have a motor home.

Enjoyed the dinner part, it gave me a chance to visit with Norm and Betty (Schreur) Glasser. Norm's grandparents lived across the street from my folks, and he would come over and when we couldn't con my mother out of cookies, it was across the street to grandmother's house.

I think about every kid older than me and of my age got their start playing basketball in Glasser's barn. My folks always knew where to find me, I think I practically lived there.

To name a few of the girls that I recognized were Valeria Moore, Shirley Hutchins, Phyllis Swanson, Grace McAllister, Louise Irwin.

It was fun... the next one in two years for those the Deity smiles on.

LET'S TALK ABOUT IT

By Joe Murphy

After the glaring white of winter, it is a pleasure to look out upon the restful and soothing colors of today.

The 40 shades of green, the various colors of the flowering shrubs and bushes together, create a scene that would defy the artist to capture on canvas. Just sitting on the porch as the old town ruffles its feathers and settles in for the night, brings the old man a lot of pleasure. Folks walking or driving by acknowledge your presence with a wave or a friendly word.

Summer is the reward for living through the doldrums of winter.

The old man is even getting the idea he should be doing a little fishing. My old buddy, Jerry McClain, brought me over a nice mess of bluegills which Carolyn filled, and they were so good I feel I should try to catch some.

Carolyn has got the knack of removing every bone from a fish, which makes for much better eating. About every fish except the smaller brook trout, we eat gets stripped of every bone, even northern pike. If you have never eaten northerns that have been filleted by an expert, you do not know the treat you are missing.

I saw on the news that a rabies outbreak has started over in Antrim County and is spreading fast. It appears that someone dumped some pups over there that were infected. It doesn't take long before a lot of animals have it.

I remember when Crawford County had a real problem with rabies. Some tourists dropped off a sick dog in Frederic, and soon, just about every dog in the area was infected.

We were lucky in that it was a strain of rabies in which the lower jaw of the infected animals was paralyzed. That cut down on the number of victims of column closing Nuts and Jolts from the imaginative mind of Hod Shewell:

—To the wife or girlfriend of a big league pitcher these days, a baseball diamond is a girl's best friend.

—Politicians who backed the sales tax increase figure that most of the higher tax will be paid by the tourists. Why not — the rest of us will have to stay home.

—"Crack" should be changed to "cracked" for the nuts who use it.

—Relative humidity is what a new mother wrings out of a diaper.

—A philanthropist is a guy who gives away the money he stole in the first place.

—How can a bank keep secrets when most of its employees are tellers?

Richard Milliman is a veteran newspaperman and a contributing columnist to several Michigan newspapers.

To satisfy my democratic readers I'm going to refrain from mentioning anything in this column about the first family and their follies. I cannot guarantee that this will be the same in future columns.

One reader, a while back, wrote and told me to wake up and go back to bed... that is pretty hard to do, but I liked the part of going back to bed... I don't need much prodding to take a nap.

As a closer... a few gems from Joe Falls' Forum in The Detroit News.

•George Burns, the 98-year-old comedian, was asked why he was going to play Caesars Palace in Las Vegas on his 100th birthday and he replied: "It's a sentimental thing — I knew Julius as a boy."

•Rodney Dangerfield, comedian, in his never-ending search for respect: "I've got a twin brother and he's always mad at me because I can never remember his birthday."

•Hal McRae, Kansas City Royals manager, on all the errors his team is making: "We're giving away things like we're Democrats."

I almost did it... until another day.

dog bites. We lost a cow that was attacked by a rabid dog, which in turn became rabid. I was glad she was locked in a stanchion, for if she had been able to, she would have attacked me.

One of my most hair-raising days was when our farm dog became rabid. I was there alone. I did not want to shoot the dog until dad saw it because it was a real good dog. I did my work that day, with both a rifle and hay fork close at hand. The dog did not try to come after me, but before I left the farm that night, I put on a couple of extra jackets and gloves and chained it up. Dad killed it the next morning and the high fever had burned its blood almost black.

Today, with most dogs vaccinated for rabies, the disease should not spread like it did then.

Ed Kellogg used to tell a story about a man who had contacted rabies, and when he realized his mind was starting to go, and fearing he might harm his family, he went off in the woods, chained and padlocked himself to a tree, and threw the keys beyond his reach. He was dead when they found him and he had torn most of his fingers off, pawing at the dirt trying to get away.

Be very careful of strange dogs or wild animals that just don't act right.

State welfare system changing from 'handout' to 'helping hand'

Special to the Avalanche
By State Representative Allen Lowe (R-Grayling)

In little more than a year, the state's welfare reform initiative, "To Strengthen Michigan Families," has resulted in such improvement that even the president is looking to us for help in reforming federal welfare programs.

Almost everyone has heard a horror story or two about someone held captive by the system, choosing to remain on welfare rolls in lieu of accepting employment that penalized them with less income and reduced benefits. It was that type of progression which fostered a cycle of dependency and wasted taxpayer dollars.

Before the implementation in 1992 of "To Strengthen Michigan Families," only 15 percent of those receiving Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC) had part-time or entry-level jobs. Since then, AFDC cases reporting earned income rose more than 46 percent, a striking contrast to the national average of a mere 8 percent.

The single most important feature of our welfare program is incentive or "making work pay." It allows working clients to keep the first $200 of their earnings and 20 percent of the remainder before their grant is decreased.

Another reason for success is the voluntary social contract, an agreement between state and claimant that calls for the recipient to participate in some form of self-improvement, employment or community service at least 20 hours weekly. Participation rates are between 60 and 70 percent according to initial findings, and two-thirds of those involved in productive activities do so more than 20 hours a week. The governor currently is seeking a federal waiver to make the Social Contract mandatory.

The successful welfare program we have implemented is breaking the system's hold on thousands of Michigan residents who want to work but fear for the continued financial well-being of their families. The initiative provides ample security to lead them through a difficult transition period on the way to productive, self-sufficient lives, free from state intervention.

In addition, we have passed legislation tightening child support laws and providing legal means for recovering welfare overpayments. Is it any wonder that our program is being studied by President Clinton and other governors who want to initiate a reform plan as successful as Michigan's?

Our strong commitment to Michigan families has produced many positive actions and reforms, and our current success and experience will serve as solid blocks on which to build future welfare reform.

Bill for terminally ill passes state Senate

Legislation giving patients the option of not being resuscitated by emergency personnel in a non-hospital setting passed the Senate with strong bipartisan support, announced Senator John J. H. Schwarz, M.D. (R-Battle Creek). Current law requires emergency personnel to attempt to resuscitate a patient with no vital signs. Senate Bill 1069 gives clear direction to emergency personnel, who without a properly executed do-not-resuscitate order must now disregard pleas from a patient's friends and family not to resuscitate the patient.

Schwarz, the legislature's only physician, said, "This bill grants everyone the same right that individuals have in a hospital — the right to die in peace and with dignity. The bill also gives emergency personnel the legal tools necessary to fulfill what in many cases is the terminally ill person's last wish."

Senate Bill 1069 creates the Michigan Do-Not-Resuscitate Procedure Act. This act permits individuals 18 or older, the parents or guardians of a minor, or a patient advocate for an individual 18 or older, to execute an order with the individual's personal physician. The order would declare that, in the event of death, the individual not be resuscitated. To ensure emergency personnel are aware of the order, the individual would be offered a "do-not-resuscitate" identification bracelet by their personal physician.

The bill would exempt emergency personnel from liability for not attempting to revive an individual who died and was either wearing a "do-not-resuscitate" bracelet or in possession of a visible "do-not-resuscitate" order. Emergency personnel would not be required to search for a written order.

SB 1069 would not release emergency personnel from their duty to attempt to treat an individual who had a pulse and was breathing. Emergency personnel are defined as: paramedics, emergency medical technicians, emergency medical technician specialists, physicians, nurses, medical first-responders, and respiratory care practitioners.

This bill would also require that the physician who helped execute the order retain a copy of the order in the patient's medical records. The order could be revoked at any time by the party who requested not to be resuscitated.

WEEKLY SYNDICATED COLUMN BY PERCY ROSS

Millionaire Percy Ross is known for his philanthropic work. He offers help and encouragement for those in need. He has earned a fortune and a wealth of knowledge during his lifetime and wants to share both. His motto: "He who gives while he lives... also knows where it goes."

Talk is Cheap and the Pay is Lousy

Dear Mr. Ross: I'm drowning in debt. The problem started a year ago when companies began sending me pre-approved credit card applications. I never had much money and it was a way to buy the things that make life more livable. The only job I've had since I moved to Los Angeles is as a telephone actress (phone sex operator). It wasn't so bad in the beginning, but now I hate it. Sometimes I get disgusted with myself because I'm able to tolerate this job, and it only pays $6 to $7 an hour.

I owe about $5,000 on my credit card and I'm not making a dent in paying it off. On top of that I need a new engine for my car. What I want to do is leave Los Angeles and go back home, but I can't afford to leave with all my financial responsibilities. I need your help. My self-esteem is so low. What I really need is a new beginning.

Ms. K. C. ... PennySaver, Van Nuys, CA

Dear Ms. C.: If I had to go to your job, so I could pay off $5,000 in credit card debt, I'd want a new beginning, too. I suggest you sell whatever you can, move back home, and by all means, get into a different line of work.

As for your credit card debt—you charged it, you pay for it. An easy ball out would never teach you the lesson which needs to be learned here. However, if you want your self-esteem to totally erode, just continue prostituting yourself for a lousy six-bucks an hour.

Dear Mr. Ross: Two years ago my small intestine burst open at work. I had to have one-third of it removed. I was in and out of the hospital for the next year. I now have to be on I.V.'s every night to stay alive. I also have diabetes and one kidney. December '92 my mother passed away while I was in the hospital. May of this year my husband was fired and my mother-in-law who lived with us, to help with my son and bills, passed away. We had to pay for both funerals. I was trying to save the money to buy my son a new dresser and water bed. Because of the funerals I can't afford it now. Can you please help with $400? It would be the answer to my prayers.

Mrs. M. J. ... PennySaver, Hawthorne, CA

Dear Mrs. J.: Am I out of synch or what? You've incurred the cost of two funerals, your husband is unemployed and you have serious health concerns, yet your request is for your son. Bottom line, it's not for me to decide what you need. If you say $400 to buy a water bed and dresser is what the family needs, by God, your prayers have just been answered—the check's in the mail.

Dear Mr. Ross: I have a lady friend who would never dream of writing you because she's that kind of woman. We met through church. Her husband ran off several years ago and left her to raise their 6 children. I'm sure you hear this kind of story all the time, but what makes my friend's case different is she's blind. A freak accident took her sight 4 years ago.

The kids desperately need some new clothes and her small disability check won't stretch that far. Mr. Ross, I love this woman and her kids. I'm just a common man, but if she'll have me, one day I'd like for us to marry. I've been divorced for years and next January my child support payments will end. I'll then have the means to help support this gal and her kids. In asking for your help I'm not trying to buy their love, but maybe now they'll know how much I care.

Mr. T. J. ... Times Herald, Olean, NY

Dear Mr. J.: Just because your lady friend is blind it doesn't mean that she can't see your good intentions. If you're half as good in person as you are on paper, heck, I could probably fall in love with you myself. I'm allocating $100 per child for a total of $600 to purchase clothing. Best wishes.

Hunting & Fishing Weekly Update

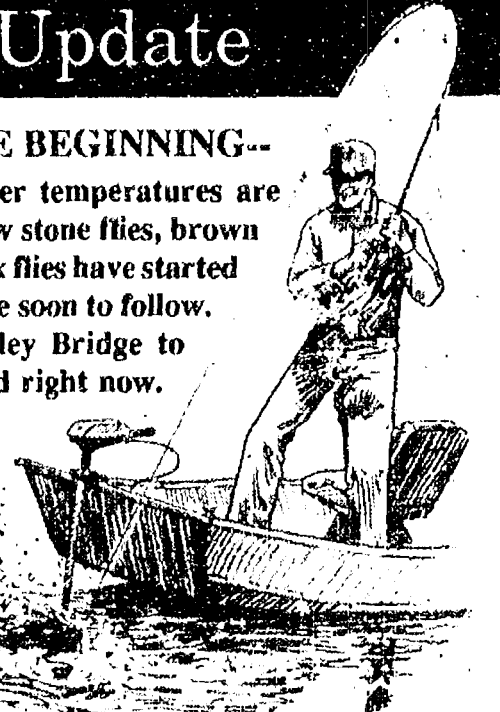

THE FLY HATCHES ARE BEGINNING--

The warmer summer-like river temperatures are bringing on the fly hatches, yellow stone flies, brown dunks and sulphur duns. The hex flies have started to hatch on the lake so they will be soon to follow.

The lower AuSable from Wakeley Bridge to McMaster's Bridge is really good right now.

Also, the South Branch from Smith Bridge to the mouth has some brown dunks and sulphur duns, and the trout seem to be very active.

The walleyes are doing good on Lake Margrethe now. Try trolling real slow with a blue rapalla, or drifting night crawlers in a good wind.

Local quilters author book

A shared love for the art of quilting inspired Dawn Goodrich-Sarrault and Winnie Riddle to combine their talents and co-author a recently published book titled, Quilting Through The Year With New Traditions. Their instructional book contains a quilt block for each month of the year.

"We wanted our blocks to be a challenge to our customers," Goodrich-Sarrault said. Most of their blocks are geared towards the intermediate quilter. "We also wanted our blocks to be both original design and new and different adaptations of old favorites," she said.

Years ago, women quilted to provide warm bedding for their families. Today, quilting is an art form that has entered the world of big business. It is estimated that 30,000 people travel to Paducah, KY, to attend the annual American Quilters Society Quilt Show and Contest. The best quilts in the world enter the competition. The "Best in Show" award is $15,000. Vender booths sell everything from finished quilts to quilting supplies.

Goodrich-Sarrault's first quilt was a tied scrap quilt made in 1979. She took her first quilting class during her senior year of college in 1984. After teaching elementary school for three years, she returned to Grayling, where she began working for her mother, Jill Wyman, at The Icehouse Quilt Shop.

Goodrich-Sarrault became well known by local quilters, teaching hand and machine quilting classes and offering advice on fabric and pattern choices to Icehouse patrons on a daily basis. During this time she continued to increase her quilt knowledge by attending numerous classes at Quilt Market and teacher seminars given by Mary Ellen Hopkins. In 1992, she married the Reverend Joel Sarrault, pastor of the 140-year-old Eisleben Lutheran Church (pronounced Ice-laben) located in Southeast Missouri. The Sarraults are expecting their first child late in June. Even though her roles as pastor's wife and new mother are time consuming, she plans to continue her involvement in the quilting field.

Winnifred (Winnie) Riddle's interest in quilting began in 1978 when she attended a class which taught a variety of quilting techniques, and this interest has played a very important role in her life ever since. Riddle shares her knowledge by teaching quilting classes and states she is always learning from her students. Riddle is a member of the AuSable Quilt Guild of Grayling and the Rivertown Patchworker of Cheboygan, where she and her 16-year-old son, Wesley, make their residence, along with an assortment of pets.

"I feel Winnie brought quilting to The Icehouse," said Wyman.

Quilting Through The Year With New Traditions was published by Shimp Personalized Publications Services, Inc., of Las Vegas, NV. The book will be marketed in quilt stores throughout the United States and is now available at The Icehouse.

American Red Cross needs blood donors

The American Red Cross needs donors this summer to give blood to help accident victims and patients needing surgery. Few things are as important, safe, and as easy to do as giving blood. It takes about one hour to make a donation.

During the summer months, the need for blood increases while donations usually decrease. With help, the Red Cross can collect the blood that is necessary, each day, to supply its 32 hospitals throughout the Wolverine Blood Region.

Strangers, and possibly someone close, are counting on blood donors this summer. Take an hour and give the gift of life. Give another laugh, another hug, and another chance.

Donors must be 17 years of age, weigh at least 110 pounds and be in good health. For more information, contact the American Red Cross at (800) 432-0083.

Doremire is top graduate

Staff Sergeant Michael A. Doremire, a lifelong Grayling resident, employed as the Non-Commissioned Officer-in-Charge of the 1183rd Ordnance Detachment, recently completed the Army's Multiple Launch Rocket System Repairer Course.

SSG Doremire completed the four and a half month course as the "Distinguished Graduate," an honor presented for "having achieved a distinguished level of academic proficiency, and having demonstrated conduct that is in keeping with the highest standards and traditions of military service."

A graduate of Grayling High School and the Ohio Institute of Technology, SSG Doremire joined the Michigan Army National Guard in December 1983. He has served in the 1438th Engineer Detachment and 1071st Maintenance Company, prior to joining the 1183rd Ordnance Detachment (MLRS) in early 1993.

SSG Doremire is married to Bonnie (Keusch) Doremire, who works as the financial manager for Weyerhaeuser Co.

First "Project Graduation" a big hit with new GHS graduates

By Terry Wright
Staff Writer

Sixty-one of the 106 graduating Grayling High School seniors attended the first "Project Graduation" festivities following commencement exercises on Friday, June 3.

Project Graduation was the idea of several parents of GHS students who looked for a way to keep graduates away from traditional parties and out of danger.

"We plan to keep on going year after year," organizer Michelle Bugyi said. "We want to keep them off the streets for that one night."

At 10:30 p.m. following commencement, the pre-registered students boarded a bus for a night of chaperoned fun. They didn't know where they were being taken, nor did they know what awaited their arrival.

Behind the scenes, dozens of volunteers had organized a "Hollywood" theme party spectacular in the Kirtland Community College Student Center. Months of preparation and hard work in fund raising culminated when the students arrived for a night of clean, fun entertainment.

No expense to fun was spared by Project Graduation organizers, who raised and spent more than $7,000 to guarantee a night the graduates won't forget.

Music, dancing, comradie and competitive games followed a congratulatory toast, with non-alcoholic champagne, to the graduates by GHS Principal Joel Raddatz.

During the course of the night, each and every graduate received a number of nice gifts, including clock radios, video chairs, back packs, golf packages, tanning sessions, hair cuts, dictionaries, beach chairs and many, many more. All gifts had been donated by a conscientious business community.

When asked if they were glad they came, all 61 graduates said "yes."

"I had a blast," said Jenny Noeske. "I would like to come again next year."

Game winners qualified for seven prize drawings. Foreign exchange student Steve Ryall won the seventh place prize of a beautiful porcelain doll. The sixth prize was $50 in a piggybank and was won by Chris Wolcott. A portable phone/answering machine was the fifth prize, won by Nicole Gingerich.

J.C. Millikin won the fourth prize, a microwave oven. Andy Witt won another microwave as the third prize. Mande Mlcek won the second prize, a 19" color TV with remote control. The first place prize, a dorm refrigerator, was won by Kris Andersen.

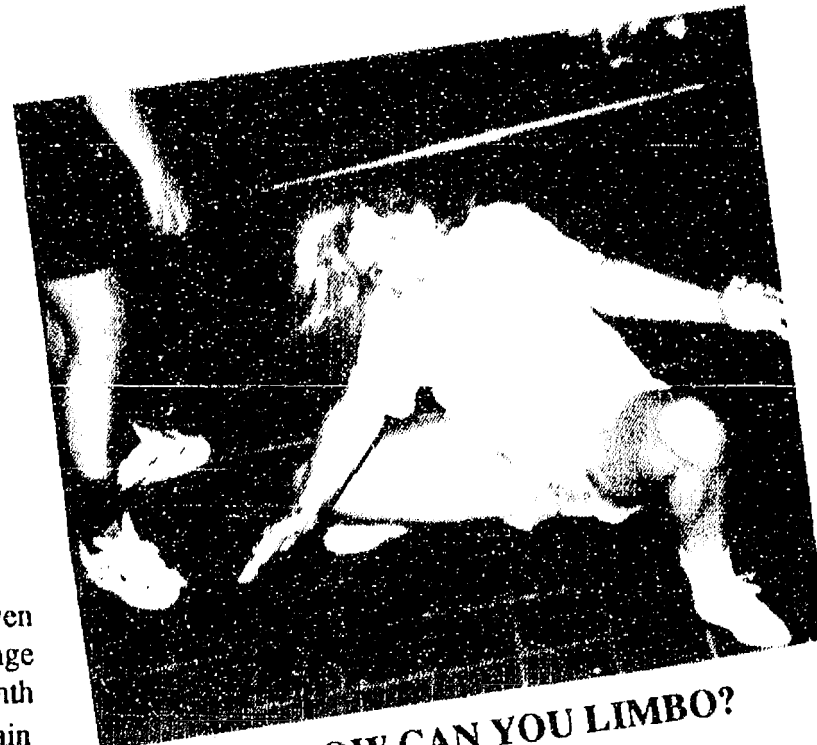

Each of the seven winners had their names entered into the grand prize drawing for $500, which was also won by Andersen.

At 6 a.m., a happy but tired group of graduates were loaded back onto the bus and taken back to Grayling to return home for some much needed rest.

"It was absolutely fantastic," said volunteer helper Susan McCurdy. "They all said they had a lot of fun."

Hunting season regulations established for fall 1994

The following 1994 hunting regulations were approved by Department of Natural Resources Director Roland Harnes at the regular June 8 monthly meeting of the Natural Resources Commission at the Ralph A. MacMillan Conference Center in Roscommon.

1994 Elk Hunting Regulations: The 1994 elk census indicated a winter population of 1,260, compared to 1,350 for the winter of 1993. In order to continue moving toward better balancing of the elk herd with available habitat, the director authorized two hunt periods, one in September and one in December. Elk license quotas will be determined by the director later this summer.

Bear Hunting Regulations: The director eliminated special rules which formerly had restricted the type of hunting arms which could be carried in an area frequented by bear during the bear hunting season. The director eliminated special dog registration requirements for Michigan's resident bear hunters.

1994 Deer Management Regulations: Upper Peninsula hunting groups had requested that the use of second buck licenses be prohibited during archery and firearm seasons. After considering recommendations from staff and receiving further public input from various hunters, the director decided to leave the current regulations in place, which permits the use of second buck licenses statewide. Director Harnes stated that he believes the current use of second buck licenses results in increased hours of recreational hunting, without having an adverse impact on the Upper Peninsula deer population.

The director established bucks-only deer hunting regulations for both archers and firearm hunters in several deer management units where the deer herd has failed to increase as intended, despite being closed for several years to the taking of antlerless deer during firearm season. This new regulation will help determine whether protecting antlerless deer during archery season will help the deer herd recover in a few deer management units where previous restrictions have not been sufficient.

In addition, the director approved boundary changes for several deer management units to meet future population objectives.

Furbearer Hunting and Trapping Regulations: The director approved regulations establishing a bag limit of two bobcats in the Upper Peninsula only, updating tagging and registration requirements for fur takers, and starting the fox and coyote season Oct. 15 in Zone 3. The director also approved rules clarifying that residents may hunt coyotes with a small game or fur harvester's license and listing fur bearers that may not be shot.

1994 Pheasant Hunting Regulations: The director approved rules establishing an experimental pheasant hunting season for Dec. 1-11 in portions of the central Lower Peninsula. Data gathered from this season will be used to determine future pheasant hunting regulations.

Sharptail Grouse Hunting Season: Sharptail grouse numbers have steadily declined, due to natural changes in their habitat. In response to this decline, the director approved rules reducing the season length, bag limit and area open to hunting.

Ruffed Grouse Hunting Season: Ruffed grouse numbers have steadily declined since the recent peak of 1989, due to the population's cyclic nature and the natural loss of habitat. In response to the current low grouse population, the director approved rules reducing the daily bag limit to three birds in Zones 1 and 3. Grouse hunting regulations in Region II will remain unchanged for one year to avoid disrupting the grouse research project underway. Changes in season dates and bag limits may be considered for 1995 based on the results of the research project.

Beaver, Otter and Fisher Trapping Regulations: In response to high beaver populations, the director approved extending the beaver and otter trapping season to the first Sunday following April 11 in some portions of the Lower Peninsula. Since fisher populations continue to increase and expand their range in the Upper Peninsula, the director approved rules expanding the area for taking fisher while limiting the season bag limit to one fisher in the newly opened area.

Father Roy leaves St. Francis to accept new call in New York

"Build it and they will come," a line from the hit movie Field of Dreams, might well describe Pastor Derik Roy's last 12 years in Grayling at St. Francis Episcopal Church. These few words represent what Father Roy does for himself, his church, his community and for his God; he is a builder.

He builds trust and solid relationships with others.

"Derik's very gentle spirit has been of great assistance in our attempt to work with the community and together. We, in all hilarity, call him 'the Late Great Derik Roy' because his input has been invaluable in our ministry. He's a true Christian gentleman," said Rev. Joseph Carpenter, Grayling Free Methodist Church and member, AuSable Ministerial Association.

Born and raised in Albany, NY, and the eldest of four, Roy is anxious to return and renew old family ties and friendships.

"My brother is a policeman, one sister is an accountant, and my other sister is employed by the phone company." All of them work in Albany. "I could probably stay in Grayling forever and be very happy because of our friends and all of the love," he said. "But," he agrees wistfully, "it's time to go home."

"Derik is one of the finest and most outstanding preachers and pastors in our Diocese," said retired Bishop H. Coleman McGehee, Episcopal Diocese of Michigan. "We have over 400 clergy, including those who have retired, and his leaving will be a great loss not only for the Grayling area, but for the Diocese, in general."

He builds congregational bridges: St. Francis has grown and become so dynamic under Father Roy, the current Bishop said recently that replacing Roy would be impossible, though finding a new pastor would be easy. "St. Francis is so well known, it is the sort of church every pastor wants to become associated with. Everyone in the Diocese has heard of St. Francis.

You people are involved in everything!" The Rt. Rev. R. Stewart Wood, Episcopal Diocese of Michigan.

He creates zones of comfort and safety: Graduating from Nashotah Theological Seminary in Wisconsin, Father Roy came to Grayling in 1981 with three small children. He and his wife, Kathy, a math teacher and ceramics engineer, now boast a family of six: Jessica (17), Justin (16), Naomi (13), Mollie (8), Madeline (6), and Abigail (5).

"Derik Roy has always been very supportive of the Center and myself ever since it opened," said Jerri Schroder, director, Crawford County Christian Help Center. "If anything, he cares too much about too many things. Since we've combined the food pantries, we're now helping an average of 40 families per month."

He builds social programs: Father Roy was instrumental in establishing New Life Services at St. Francis. It is a pro-family counseling group which attempts to help children in crisis, as well as addressing problems such as substance abuse, divorce and grief.

"When I first came to St. Francis," said Father Roy, "it was a church in transition, a 'changing of the guard' you might say. But I made some staff additions and not many churches can say they have three active youth groups. Our Little Saints group (elementary) has between 40 and 50 members, and Shekina (middle school) has 25-35."

"The church to me is of such vital importance; it was the instrument that God created to restore the people to Him. I also believe that the church should be open and available to anybody. I've married people and performed funeral services for people nobody wants. St. Francis has open doors."

He bridges insecurity with elements of trust and patience: "Derik's main strength is his easy going demeanor which puts people at ease. This allows for good communication," said Tim Neal, colleague and associate.

"We've had a wonderful relationship these past five years. Derik is a tremendous idea man, and he has inspired me by complementing and glorying in our differences," said the Rev. Jacque Guernsey, deacon, St. Francis.

"Derik is always kind and understanding. He is my trusted friend and has helped me put God in the center of my life. Perhaps more importantly, he has made me WANT to be a Christian and taught me the different between being religious and being spiritual." Diane Tompkins, Bishop's Committee and New Life board member.

"Working with Derik for the past 11 years has been a challenge and a very great privilege. His energy and enthusiasm are certainly contagious, but more importantly, his faithfulness to what his mission is seems to be contagious too. He has had the great ability to stay focused, and keep those around him focused also. He is a great peacemaker, and I have learned so much from him," said Judy Woodland, St. Francis Church secretary.

"I'm a different person now than when I came to Grayling in 1981; there's much more clarity about my vision for the church. You know," said Father Roy, "it's easier to go somewhere if you know where you're going."

He built it and they did come. In honor of Father Roy and his family, the family of St. Francis will hold a farewell open house for them on his last Sunday there. The open house will be held Sunday, June 19th, from 12 noon until 3 p.m. in the parish hall of St. Francis Episcopal Church. Anyone in the community is invited to come and bid Father Roy and his family Godspeed.

HONORS LIST

Northern Michigan University in Marquette recently announced their Dean List for the winter semester. Martina L. Koerner of Roscommon, attained a perfect 4.0 grade point average. Others earning high academic honors with grade point averages between 3.25 and 3.50 were Heidi L. Craig and Paula Nunn of Grayling, Daniel J. Berrien of Kalkaska, and Matthew J. Price of Roscommon.

Wyss named as Hugh O'Brian honoree

Jessica Wyss, a sophomore at Grayling High School, was recently selected to attend the Hugh O'Brian Leadership Seminar for 1994.

Each year, high schools from around the country select outstanding sophomores to attend the four-day seminar. During the event, the students are able to meet with persons who have distinguished themselves in business, education, government, science, the arts, and other professions.

The focus of the seminar is to motivate and develop future leaders and to prepare them for active roles in the community, according to Lynn Thompson, counselor at GHS. The students are chosen on the basis of demonstrated leadership ability, sensitivity and concern for others.

Wyss was class president her freshman year at GHS, is a two-year member of both the girls basketball and ski teams, and a member of the GHS Jazz Band.

"She's a pretty busy lady," said Thompson. "Ten students interviewed. They are good kids. To get picked was quite an honor."

Hugh O'Brian candidates from GHS are sponsored locally by the Grayling Kiwanis Club. Wyss is the daughter of David and Colleen Wyss of Grayling.

Grayling area host families needed for foreign teens

Foreign high school students will be arriving soon into the Grayling area for academic semester and year homestays, and the sponsoring organization needs a few more local host families.

According to Pacific Intercultural Exchange (P.I.E.) Executive Director John Dory, the students are all between the ages of 15 and 18 years, are English-speaking, have their own passport money, carry accident and health insurance, and are anxious to share their culture experience with the new American families. P.I.E. currently has programs to match homes every family, speed, ranging in length from a semester to a full academic year, where the student attend local high school.

P.I.E. are representative match students with host families of mutual common interest and lifestyle through an informal home meeting.

Prospective host families are able to review student applications and select the perfect match. A letter of recommendation from P.I.E. can be obtained just about any situation, whether it is single parent, a childless couple, or a couple with large family.

Families who host for P.I.E. are also eligible to claim a $500 or more charitable contribution deduction on their federal income tax return for each month the host sponsors a student.

For the upcoming program, P.I.E. has students from Spain, Germany, France, Russia, Finland, Argentina, Brazil, Colombia, Paraguay, Australia, New Zealand, Croatia and many other countries. P.I.E. has also been invited to participate in future government-funded programs to encourage student travel to foster independence and interest in the United States of America.

Crawford Station celebrates northern style

By Dennis Mansfield
Managing Editor

The new Crawford Station restaurant at the Grayling Holiday Inn recently celebrated its Grand Opening on Thursday, June 2.

Local business people and dignitaries turned out for a ribbon cutting ceremony, with a few kind words being spoken before a buffet dinner.

"It happens to be our 22 anniversary," said Kim Schmidt, director of sales at the Holiday Inn, located on the I-75 Business Loop. Crawford Station re-opened for business for the Mother's Day weekend in May.

Crawford Station with a noticeable northern theme to the restaurant, including the booths individually named after local ghost towns.

One object of the remodeling was to get rid of noise problems associated with the pool area, just adjacent to the restaurant, according to Holiday Inn officials.

There is the last AuSable River boat built by Grayling native Ralph Redhead, who died of cancer in May 1964. The boat was used by area resident, Dr. B.E. Henig. Henig used the boat until the fall of 1993, floating down the waters of the AuSable with such famous persons as Fred Bear.

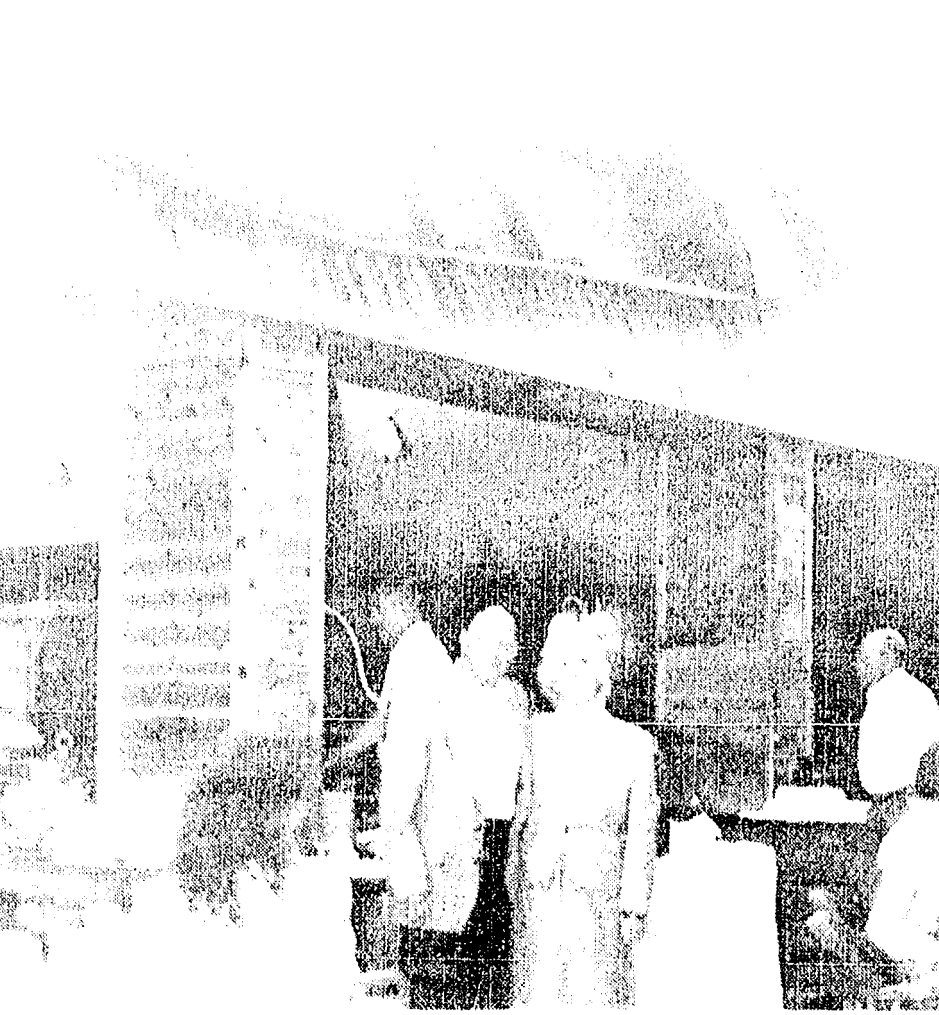

Henig donated the boat to the Holiday Inn.

"We wanted something different," Schmidt said. "It's all closed it now, so there is no smell and noise from the pool area."

"Our menu is totally different. It's all northern, too," she added.

Customers may now dine on dishes such as the AuSable River Boat (a seasonal fruit dish) or maybe the Monarch (prime rib dinner).

Hours at the remodeled restaurant are: Monday through Friday, 6 a.m. to 2 p.m. and 5 p.m. to 10 p.m.; Saturday from 6 a.m. to 2 p.m. and 5 p.m. to 10 p.m.; and Sundays from 6 a.m. to 9 p.m. Schmidt said group of more than 10 persons should call ahead for reservations.

Engler, bill look to outlaw 'cat'

Gov. John Engler recently signed legislation to halt the spread of so-called "counterfeit" drugs in Michigan.

"Stopping the spread of illegal drugs in Michigan is a top priority," Engler said. "This legislation gives police officers the vital tools they need to put a halt to the spread of 'counterfeit drugs' such as 'cat,' which has wreaked havoc in the Upper Peninsula."

"Cat" is one of the most addicting drugs in existence, according to Crawford County Sheriff David Lovely.

"It makes people become violent, and if it's not mixed in the right proportions, it can be fatal," Lovely said. "We've been fortunate, we haven't found any 'cat' in Crawford County."

BITS OF TALK

By Fay Bovee

Don Jansen of Grayling, has made contact with the Michigan Submarine Vets organization after having seen a television newscast two weeks ago. He has been trying to contact the group for 40 years, without success, until now. Through the contact he has joined both the State and National Submarine Veterans.

The Michigan Vets have a memorial service every year aboard the sub, Silversides, based in the Muskegon State Park. The service is in memory of all the 52 subs that were lost in the war. There was a membership meeting in Muskegon on Saturday afternoon, May 28, with the memorial services on the sub on Sunday, May 29.

Don served aboard the USS Sealion SS 315, a sistership to the Silversides. The Jansens' trip to Muskegon was a real experience for Don as the sub has all the equipment still aboard. They even started the engines; that was something to experience again after nearly 50 years.

Local fitness and exercise center changes names, owners

Rainbow Fitness and Rehabilitation Center, a local health club located on the I-75 Business Loop in Grayling, is changing names and owners.

The fitness club was recently purchased by MaryAnn Bloomquist of Grayling from Richard Febey, with the facility being renamed Hard Bodyz Health and Fitness.

"Primarily, I did it because I wanted a gym in the community," said Bloomquist, a fitness enthusiast. "I'm here all the time anyway. I practically live here."

Febey will be staying at the renamed fitness center, providing physical therapy services, with Mike Bloomquist the manager.

"I'm extremely delighted the fitness center is going to stay in the community," Febey said. "We're very optimistic about the new relationship."

"We're going to do some remodeling this summer on Saturdays and Sundays when we're closed," Bloomquist said. "We'll be opening in the fall with new hours."

Besides quality exercise equipment and fitness training, Bloomquist said Hard Bodyz will also be offering a variety of vitamin and food supplements for customers. New programs may also be added in the fall, according to Bloomquist.

Currently, persons may stop by Hard Bodyz on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays from 6 a.m. to 9 p.m., Tuesdays and Thursdays from 6 a.m. to 8 p.m., and Saturdays from 8 a.m. to 1 p.m.

AMERICAN INSTITUTE FOR CANCER RESEARCH

By Cathy Seigerman

Barbecuing is a way of life for millions of Americans, but does it involve health risks? According to the American Institute for Cancer Research, that depends in part on what foods you grill and how you grill them.

You've probably heard that eating low-fat meals can improve your general health and lower your risk for cancer and heart disease. With barbecuing, there's even more of a health reason to cut fat. When fat from meat drips onto hot charcoal or rocks in a gas or electric grill, carcinogens (substances that initiate cancer development) are formed and deposited onto food by the smoke that rises up and by flare-ups that char or blacken food.

Although you'd have to eat barbecued food at least once every day to be at high risk from these carcinogens, it's still worth minimizing health risks overall by taking the following steps:

- Choose low-fat meats like lean beef, poultry, or fish instead of high-fat selections like ribs or hot dogs (best eaten only occasionally in small portions).

- When preparing food for the grill, cut a substantial amount of fat by trimming it from all raw red meat and removing the skin from poultry.

- Use marinades and basting sauces that don't contain fat or oil (such as juices, vinegars, and mustard). Brush on thick or sweet sauces toward the end of cooking so they don't cause the outside of the food to burn.
- To keep non-fat food from sticking to the grill, remove the grill rack and oil it or spray it with non-stick coating, then place it back on the grill and heat for a few minutes before putting the food on to cook.

- Foods to be grilled should be at cool room temperature, because cold foods may burn on the outside and remain raw on the inside.

- Avoid charring foods by grilling as many inches away from the coals as possible to avoid blackening. One useful technique is to partially cook meat, poultry and fish in the oven or microwave first (with the seasonings, sauce or marinade you prefer), then finish cooking on the grill for a few minutes for barbecue taste and aroma.

Round out your barbecue with nutritious side dishes that use plenty of vegetables and whole grains. Vegetables grilled on a skewer with a non-fat basting sauce or juice don't create any toxic substances. Try a fresh green salad with garden vegetables and low-fat dressing, ideal for any summer cook-out. Add a dessert of summer fruit -- plain or cut up to make a salad -- and your barbecue meal will be both healthful and delicious.

CLASSROOM VISIT—First Lieutenant James S. Berglund, commanding officer of the Marquette Forensic Laboratory, visited the fourth grade classes at Frederic Elementary School. He spoke about his work and answered questions the students asked. He showed the students his three most valuable possessions — his Crawford County Library card, Peter White Library card, and Northern Michigan University Library card, after several unsuccessful guesses by students. Lieutenant Berglund also challenged the students with "mental math" problems during his visit. The students did a great job of obtaining the correct answers!

The Civil War veterans project still continues. Although we have identified 17 veterans buried in the old section of Elmwood Cemetery, 14 have stones and three more stones have been ordered from the government, there still remains one question. Was William Brink, born in 1845 and died in 1928, a Civil War veteran? Does anyone have information about him, or are there any of his relatives among our readers? Please call me, 517-348-7017, Fay Bovee, or write me in care of the Avalanche, P.O. Box 490, Grayling, MI 49738, if you have any information or any clues at all.

We are starting the identification of Civil War veterans' graves in the new section of Elmwood; watch for further information and questions.

RSVP HAPPENINGS

By Gloria Mologianes

We have a problem and need our volunteers or anyone who might feel they could help to contact us. AuSable Valley Youth Services Bureau needs some volunteers to transport a little girl from the Roscommon area to Grayling to the bureau on Monday and Wednesday for the summer. They will provide mileage reimbursement. If you or someone you know might be interested, please give us a call at RSVP, 348-4341. We sure would appreciate it and these children need to be able to participate in this program.

I would like to give you a little information on the benefits of joining the Retired and Senior Volunteer Program. First of all there are no membership fees or dues. We provide accident and liability insurance for all of our volunteers. We reimburse mileage to and from your assignments. We host a Recognition Dinner every year as a way of saying thank you to our volunteers. And the best part of all, you the volunteers, provide a much needed service to your community. If you are 55 years of age or older and interested please give us a call at 348-4341 or come in and have a cookie and cup of coffee with Stephanie and myself at the Senior Center here in Grayling anytime. We will be happy to sign you up.

The Bible Speaks

From the Calvary Baptist Church

What Is Home To You?

Home should be an important place. Some people receive more joy and blessings from their home than others. No families learned to love their home more than Jews who obeyed God's Word. "When a man hath taken a new wife, he shall not go out to war, neither shall he be charged with any business: [but] he shall be free at home one year, and shall cheer up his wife which he hath taken." (DEU 24:5). Just imagine the blessings of God upon the Jewish home! This must have been like heaven on earth. God's plan for the husband and wife that first year of marriage was to build a loving and lasting relationship.

Visiting people in prisons, hospitals, nursing homes, and other institutions soon brings one to the realization that most people love home more than anywhere on earth. Even when memory fails, people still have a longing and desire for home. On numerous occasions I have heard people beg for the privilege of going home. We still remember that feeling of homesickness in the Army as the lights were first turned out in the barracks.

One of the last acts of Jesus Christ as He died upon the cross was to assure His mother, Mary, a home with his dear friend and disciple, John. "Then saith he to the disciple, Behold thy mother! And from that hour that disciple took her unto his own [home]." (JOH 19:27). Jesus Christ assured His disciples of a future home in Heaven. "In my Father's house are many mansions: if [it were] not [so], I would have told you. I go to prepare a place for you." (JOH 14:2). Home in Heaven is a prepared place for a prepared people who trust Jesus Christ alone as their Savior. Do you desire a home in Heaven?

God blessing us with a home in Heaven and Earth encourages believers to be faithful to God's house. There He calls us to pray and worship Him. There each family is strengthened by God's truth and morality. But, like the Jews of old, many people today have become indifferent toward God's house. Then they wonder why the problems of life seem to multiply. "Ye looked for much, and, lo, [it came] to little; and when ye brought [it] home, I did blow upon it. Why? saith the LORD of hosts. Because of mine house that [is] waste, and ye run every man unto his own house." (HAG 1:9). God admonishes us, "Not forsaking the assembling of ourselves together, as the manner of some [is]; but exhorting [one another]: and so much the more, as ye see the day approaching." (HEB 10:25). Ignoring God in His house is a public declaration of ingratitude and unfaithfulness!

Christ promised, "But seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you." (MAT 6:33). God ultimately saves the best for those who keep Him first in their earthly choices.

Church Directory

"THINK ABOUT IT..."

As Father's Day approaches, we might recall some fatherly advice. This year, these words came back to me... "If you keep your ears open and your mouth closed, you may learn something."

As a youngster, it was disturbing when my father quietly said, "I will have to think about it." I wanted an answer immediately. Even now, silence does not come easily to me, but I have learned that it is imperative to wait for an answer.

Our Heavenly Father has instructed us to practice prayer and meditation.

Yes, we are His children. We may ask for our heart's desire, but we need to take equal time to listen for an answer...to meditate upon what our Father "thinks about it".

On Father's Day, may we recognize fathers everywhere, and as we worship, let us make prayer and meditation a priority. What advice has your Father given you? Be still, keep an open heart, and think about it.

WEEKLY FEATURES

VERSE OR WORSE

By Joe Murphy

The Enemy

All mankind has a common enemy
One that no army can defeat
An enemy with no substance or texture
Who pays no heed to those who entreat

An enemy who turns the young to old
Destroying young men in their prime
We fight a battle we cannot win
For man's greatest enemy is time

Right from the day that we were born
We begin our battle with time
The young to be older, the old to be young
No one thinks right where they're at is just fine

The child looks ahead at being all grown up
In a hurry to leave childhood behind
But once they become all grown up
I know they will soon change their mind

They will look back with fondness at childhood
Even those school days they hate right now
When they think of those carefree, happy days
How they will wish they could return somehow

There is only one way to win the battle
Prepare yourself to reach heaven's shore
For it is where God's word tells us
That time shall be no more

There we will live forever
Among our loved ones who have gone on before
And our battle with time will be over
In the land where time shall be no more

Can you afford to spend thousands of dollars on a small ad in a book that stays closed most of the time?
Consider these advantages of newspaper advertising:

- You have the flexibility to change your Ad whenever you want -- you're not stuck with the same copy for a year.
- Every week people pay some of their hard-earned money to read the Avalanche. The Yellow Pages stay closed 90% of the time.
- An Avalanche Ad lets you announce sales and new products. The Yellow Pages don't allow you to advertise prices for your services or products.
- A big Ad in the Avalanche is noticed by potential customers. People using a telephone directory most of the time just need your business number or location -- and the white pages or your free listing in the Yellow Pages serves this purpose.

GHS Viking boys' baseball team ends season at 8 wins, 12 losses

By Terry Wright
Staff Writer

The awards ceremony for the Grayling High School Viking baseball team was held at Bucilli's on Monday, June 13.

The JV players were each awarded certificates of achievement and JV Assistant Coach Brian Banda was recognized for his many hours of volunteer help with the players.

Varsity Coach Fred Wolcott then awarded three varsity letters to sophomores Andy Perrin and Jason Thompson, and junior Tony Dobry.

Coach Wolcott announced the selection of two varsity members to the Great Northern Conference, Huron Division team. Junior Shane Hinkle, who led the Vikings in batting with a .448 average, was selected for honorable mention honors, and senior Chris Wolcott, who batted .402 and earned a 4-3 pitching record, was named to the conference Most Valuable Player team. Wolcott ended a senior year which saw him earn conference MVP honors in football, basketball and baseball.

Winning "300 Club" awards for batting over .300 in 20-or-more at bats were sophomore Jason Thompson and Senior Paul Hartman.

"400 Club" awards were given to Hinkle and Wolcott.

Winning "Tough to K" awards for having the lowest percentage of making outs at the plate were Hinkle and Thompson.

Senior awards went to Travis Eddy, Jeremiah Blauw, Mike Hartman, Scott Gizinski, Paul Hartman and Chris Wolcott.

In awards voted by team members, Chris Wolcott won the unanimous vote of his teammates for the Captains Award, and Hinkle was the unanimous selection for the Most Improved Award.

The "110-percent Award" was given to Thompson.

The recipient of the team's Most Valuable Player Award was Chris Wolcott.

"We worked hard this year," Coach Wolcott said. "But, we didn't achieve our goals. We couldn't get consistent. One game we'd look good, the next we'd look bad."

The Vikings completed the season with an 8-12 record. In Great Northern Conference play the Vikings finished 2-6.

"We need to get more of our high school baseball players into summer baseball programs," Wolcott added. "If we can do that, we'll see our record improve."

Prior to the awards presentations, both junior varsity and varsity players and coaches enjoyed pizza.

Local youth bowlers travel downstate for statewide $1,000 scholarship competition

By Terry Wright
Staff Writer

Twenty-five area youth travelled south in May to compete for scholarships in the Coca-Cola Youth Bowling Scholarship Tournament. All of the youth qualified for the tournament through participation in the Grayling Youth Bowling League (GYBL).

The GYBL enrolled more than 200 young people who learned and enjoyed bowling every Saturday morning through the past winter months. The league was organized by Ron Case of Grayling, with the help of many adult volunteers.

State competition for youth ages 11 and under bowled in Comstock Park on May 14. They included Danielle Mathey, Rusty Strohpaul, Allen Geiss, Nathan Sloan, Dave Stocker, Shawn Lozon and D.J. Canfield.

Youth aged 12-to-21 travelled to North Muskegon on May 7, and included J.R. Akers, Jason Lozon, Angela Meyers, Nikki Strohpaul, Justin Davis, Jamie Anderson, Debbie Harris, Jerrett Langowski, Sarah See, Kim Ockerman, Destiny Vastine, Charles Armstrong, Tom Cojocar, Tom Lobsinger, Nick Osborne, Robbie Cox and Dannie Ray.

"It's nice for a coach to see it all come together," Case said. "Not only did the kids bowl very well, but I was told of how well they behaved, that they knew how to keep score and when it was their turn to bowl."

"They represented Grayling well," Case added. "Grayling should be as proud of them as I am. I want to thank all the different businesses, organizations and individuals who helped make this year a success."

Grayling gears up for 'The Marathon'

LONGEST RUNNING SPONSOR—Steve Southard, member of the Weyerhaeuser AuSable River Canoe Marathon Committee, accepts a sponsor check from Grayling State Bank CEO and President, James Karney. GSB is the longest continuous sponsor of The Marathon.

Seven hours of darkness, rocks, logjams, possible inclement weather and 14 1/2 to 19 hours of non-stop paddling await top canoe racing teams from throughout North America in the 47th Weyerhaeuser AuSable River Canoe Marathon, July 28-31.

Experienced paddlers are attracted by one of North America's premier marathon canoe racing events, lured by one of this country's finest trout fishing and recreational streams. Michigan's famed AuSable River is the site of the granddaddy of U.S. marathon canoe racing.

The Marathon is held in conjunction with two festivals held in the communities of Grayling and Oscoda, the start and finish sites, respectively, of the Marathon event. Over 40 two-paddler teams will battle it out on the AuSable, 50,000 paddle strokes across the state, from the cool clear upper river in Grayling to the mouth of the river at Lake Huron in Oscoda.

Racers will compete for a portion of the largest canoe racing purse in North America — over $47,000 in cash and prizes — including $5,000 for the first place team.

Over 50,000 fans are expected to view the race beginning with the spicetangling Le Mans-style running start to the river at dusk in Grayling on Saturday, July 30.

The AuSable Marathon is the middle leg of the "Triple Crown of North American Canoe Racing." Several paddlers entered in the Marathon also competed in the General Clinton Regatta, the first triple crown event held Memorial Day weekend on the Susquehanna River in New York state.

Canadians Serge Corbin and Solomon Carriere, 1993 AuSable Marathon and Triple Crown champions and winners of the 1994 General Clinton Regatta, are expected to compete in the race on July 30. They currently lead the triple crown standings with the New York victory.

The AuSable Marathon may be the pivotal event, as the triple crown competitors next head for Le Classique Labor Day weekend on the Maurice River in Corbin's home — Quebec — for the final race which determines the championship.

Billed as the world's "toughest spectator sport," the AuSable River Marathon begins in Grayling and continues throughout the night and into the next day as spectators hopscotch to vantage points along the course at bridges, dams and access points to catch a glimpse of the teams as they go by. Marathon officials anticipate there will be a larger field of contestants than ever before, including teams from England, Texas, New York and Canada.

During the Marathon, race paddlers receive no outside assistance, except food and water provided by feeders who meet them at strategic points along the river. Obstacles, the darkness, fog, sometimes inclement weather and sheer torture of 15 to 19 hours of non-stop paddling all play on the paddlers' physical and mental strengths.

They paddle at a rate of 60-80 strokes per minute, portage over six hydroelectric dams and steer clear of the river's natural obstacles attempting to successfully complete the 120-mile non-stop course.

Weyerhaeuser Company of Grayling is the primary sponsor of the 47th AuSable River Marathon. Glen's Markets sponsors the Challenge Races which include five classes for experienced and novice paddlers.

Associate sponsors are GSB, Big Boy and Holiday Inn of Grayling. Gold Contributing Sponsor is Georgia Pacific Corporation of Grayling, supporting the Marathon through bonus awards for teams breaking records in the women's, mixed and masters divisions of the Marathon.

Silver contributing sponsors include Carlisle Paddle, Great Lakes Bancorp, Empire National Bank, Sawyer Canoe, Mac's Drugs, Mercy Hospital, Wolohan's of Grayling, C. F. Fick & Sons, Webb Design, Consumers Power, First of America, and Chemical Bank.

Official product sponsors again this year are Pelican Products and Cellular One.

Located in the heart of northern Michigan 200 miles north of Detroit, Grayling is near the headwaters of both the AuSable and Manistee rivers, widely recognized as two of the finest trout and canoeing streams in the U.S. Oscoda, on US-23 at the shores of Lake Huron, is a favorite Great Lakes fishing and sports vacation spot.

For more information contact the Grayling Area Visitors Council at 1-800-YES-8837, or the Oscoda-AuSable Chamber of Commerce at 1-800-235-GOAL.

Frederic Auto Show attracts 141 classic entries

Classic cars from around the midwest converged on Frederic last weekend for the annual Frederic Auto Show.

The winner (top left) of the "Best of Show" trophy was Larry Sawallich of Traverse City with his 1934 Ford Tudor Sedan with matching trailer.

Sawallich restored the car from the frame up with "seven years of blood, sweat and tears."

Race organizers awarded more than 60 trophies in 23 different classes to classic car owners.

Show organizer Rod Hinkle of the C.C. Cruisers said, "This was a nice show. Everything went great."

Hearing Loss Is Not A Sign Of Old Age.

Chicago, Ill.-- A free offer of special interest to those who hear but do not understand words has been announced by Beltone. A non-operating model of the smallest hearing aid Beltone has ever developed will be given absolutely free to anyone requesting it.

It's yours for the asking, so send for it now. It is not a real hearing aid, but it will show you how tiny hearing help can be. The actual aid weighs less than an eighth of an ounce, and it fits completely into the ear canal.

These models are free, so we suggest you write for yours now. Again, there is no cost, and certainly no obligation. Although a hearing aid may not help everyone, more and more people with hearing losses are being helped. For your free sample send your name, address, and phone number today to: Department 039, Beltone Electronics Corporation, 4201 West Victoria Street, Chicago, Illinois 60646.

Natural Resources Inventory locates protected species Summer car maintenance tips offered

Camp Grayling's comprehensive natural resources inventory program, initiated in April 1992, has now located and identified 17 more species that are listed on the State Endangered, Threatened, or Special Concern List. As of May 4, 1994, a total of 20 "listed" plant and animal species have been identified within Camp Grayling's boundaries. The Michigan Natural Features Inventory, a joint project of The Nature Conservancy & Michigan Department of Natural Resources Heritage Program, in conjunction with the Land Condition Trend Analysis (LCTA) Program implemented by the Michigan Department of Military Affairs (MDMA) has documented the occurrence of the following species. All are protected under the Endangered Species Act of the State of Michigan (Public Act 203 of 1974 as amended) and/or the Federal Endangered Species Act.

SCIENTIFIC NAME	COMMON NAME	STATUS
Stellaria crassifolia	Fleshy chickweed	Threatened
Lycopodium appressum	Appressed bog clubmoss	Threatened
Isotria verticillata	Whorled pagonia (orchid)	Threatened
Botrychium campestre	Prairie moonwort (fern)	Threatened
Festuca scabrella	Rough fescue (grass)	Threatened
Oryzopsis canadensis	Canada rice-grass	Threatened
Syrphium clintonii	Clinton's bulrush (grass)	Threatened
Viola novae-angliae	New England violet	Threatened
Juncus vaseyi	Vasey's rush	Threatened
Sporobolus heterolepis	Prairie dropseed	Threatened
Bulco linearis	Red shouldered hawk	Threatened
Cirsium hillii	Hill's thistle	Special Concern
Sistrurus catenatus	Massasauga rattlesnake	Special Concern
Mimulus glaberratus	James monkey flower	Special Concern
Prunus alleghaniensis	Alleghany or sloe plum	Special Concern
Appalachia arcana	Secretive locust	Special Concern
Aster longifolius	Long-leaved aster	Special Concern

These 17 species will join the Kirtland's Warbler (Federal and State Endangered), Bald Eagle (Federal and State Threatened), and Houghton's Goldenrod (Federal and State Threatened) as "special" plants and animals found within Camp Grayling's 147,859 acres. In cooperation with the Michigan Department of Natural Resources, U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, and U.S. Forest Service the MDMA has successfully implemented programs and management plans to protect habitat and assure population stability of these three unique species. Similar plans are also in place to protect these newly identified species. To date, 866 different plants have been collected and identified.

The LCTA program will enable the MDMA, as land steward, to take a proactive posture towards the conservation of natural resources. "Camp Grayling contains a wide variety of wildlife, plants, and very unique habitat. This on-going natural resource inventory will allow us to develop a comprehensive land stewardship plan designed to assist the Camp in meeting its training goals and missions while affording adequate protection to the environment," according to John W. Hunt, Camp Grayling environmental manager. For more information, contact the Public Affairs Office at (517) 348-3708.

Hot summer temperatures can be as brutal on a poorly maintained automobile as the most chilling winter weather.

Statistics show that cars are just as likely to break down during the summer as any other time of year. Between June 1 and Aug. 31 last year, AAA Michigan answered 182,380 emergency road service calls statewide, or 23 percent of the 807,526 calls serviced for the year.

When the temperature rises above 90 degrees, trouble begins for many motorists. Vehicles with weak batteries may have difficulty starting, air conditioning systems can fail and poorly maintained cooling systems overheat.

Cracked belts may snap and worn hoses can blister and begin leaking as temperatures rise inside and outside the engine compartment.

"While many motorists know the approach of cold weather signals the need for preventative maintenance, hotter temperatures also require special attention for motor vehicles," said Gerald Gutowski, AAA Michigan Automotive Services director.

To keep vehicles free of heat-related problems, Gutowski recommends a complete inspection by a certified technician. At a minimum, the following maintenance items should be checked:

- Inspect antifreeze/coolant level, making certain proper 50/50 mixture of water and coolant is present.

- According to manufacturer's recommendations, use a multi-viscosity motor oil that carries the certification mark of the American Petroleum Institute specifying approval for gasoline engines.

- Inspect and replace worn or cracked belts as well as worn, cracked, blistered or soft hoses.

- Check tires and tire pressure.
- Check the air conditioning system for leaks, and have it serviced using the refrigerant CFC-12 in older systems or HFC134a in new or modified air conditioners. Do not use substitute refrigerants.

It is also important to know that battery performance is compromised by extremes in temperature, whether hot or cold, so old or weak batteries should be tested and replaced if necessary.

Because even a well-maintained car can break down, it's a good idea to carry drinking water and a windshield shade that will reduce heat build-up inside the vehicle. A cellular telephone or citizens band radio can be used to summon help.

"Becoming stranded by a breakdown on a summer day may not seem threatening," Gutowski said. "Yet, a hot day on the side of the road without water or shade can become a motorist's worst nightmare. To help prevent a breakdown, inspect your vehicle before warm weather hits and monitor its condition throughout the summer driving season."

Mercy affiliate hosts ethics conference

Mercy Health Services North of Cadillac, an affiliate of Mercy Hospital of Grayling, is sponsoring a conference designed to address the ethical and spiritual ramifications of assisted suicide and other medical ethical concerns.

The conference will be held Tuesday, June 21, from 4 to 8 p.m. at Bill Oliver's Best Western Conference Center, M-55 West in Cadillac. The cost is $20 and includes dinner.

One of the most complicated issues facing the general public healthcare professionals, policy makers, and ministers involves medical ethical decisions. This educational conference has been developed to increase the knowledge of these issues by exploring current information. Speakers for the conference include:

Carol Bayley, Ph.D., ethicist with Mercy Health Services, Farmington Hills. Dr. Bayley provides leadership, education, and assistance within the MHS system to identify and respond to the ethical dimension of health care services.

Thomas F. Schindler, Ph.D., director of ethics for Mercy Health Services, Farmington Hills. Father Schindler is a prolific writer and lecturer and has published extensively in the areas of social and business ethics, moral theology, and peace and justice. He is a member of the Commission on Death and Dying for the State of Michigan.

SYNOPSIS OF THE CONFERENCE SESSIONS

"Medical Ethics: changing world views." This session thoroughly explores the changing world views in medical ethics. Participants will gain an understanding of the role patient self-determination, patient benefit, and justice have played in the process that has brought health care ethics to where it is today. With the current focus on health care reform and managed care, the session addresses how medical ethics can guide society in allocating limited health care resources.

"Assisted Suicide: ethical and spiritual perspectives." Assisted suicide is an issue that raises troubling questions on a number of different levels. First, it brings to mind people who are suffering terribly and for whom modern medicine does not seem able to provide care.

Secondly, the assisted suicide issue confronts problems with developing a public policy which effects whole groups of people.

Finally, the religious and spiritual issues involved in making these decisions are explored, because it is impossible to consider matters of life and death without addressing them.

Persons interested in attending the conference should send their name with a check or money order made out to Mercy Hospital to: Bob Doering, chaplain, Mercy Hospital, 400 Hobart St., Cadillac, Michigan 49601.
